

Our Generix

Using an automatically generated site map, you can see for yourself that all of your project components are positioned correctly when the Web site is created. The site map enables you to ensure efficient navigation, and identify and resolve duplications or dead-ends on your site. You can display and use the site map in HTML, XML, or XSL(T).

Navigation Manager only displays the pages of the project structure that are called directly by the navigation. This provides for clear and easy-to-handle navigation creation and maintenance.
